La Fenice was designed by Laurent Giles and launched in 1962 as 'Diadem of Dewlish.' She was to be the mother ship to J A Boydens America's Cup venture with 'Sovereign' in Newport Rhode Island, 1964.

La Fenice is a 95-foot luxury motor yacht with British sailing history built into her DNA. Since her launch to support Britain's entry into the 19th America's Cup, she has had a rich history working with the French Navy, as well as being owned by the renowned German photographer Peter Lindbergh. Her interiors are from the iconic French design house Christian Liaigre. La Fenice was Christian Liaigre's first superyacht project.

ENVIRONMENTAL SUSTAINABILITY

Luxury should leave an impression—not a footprint.

At 63 years old, La Fenice contains significant embodied carbon and in an effort to reduce our footprint we insist on the use of non-leaching antifouling coatings, advanced wastewater treatment systems, high fuel efficiency, sustainable fuel solutions, eco-friendly repainting processes, and the use of durable, high-quality parts. These components are designed to be serviceable, repairable, and enduring, ensuring they remain in use rather than being discarded at the end of their service life.
